What is the Medical Reserve

The Medical Reserve Corps (MRC) is a national network of volunteers, organized locally to improve the health and safety of their communities. The MRC network comprises 990 community-based units and almost 200,000 volunteers located throughout the United States and its territories.

MRC volunteers are fully covered against liability for their actions when performed in good faith as part of the MRC unit during an official training or event.

Why Join the Medical Reserve Corps?

Community Health is an everyday concern. In a disaster, everyone wants to help. Preregistering as a volunteer and gaining community service experience mean you will be ready to answer the call in a meaningful way after any disaster.
